Welcome to the Pipe Organ Encounter Week

Welcome to the final public concert of the 2010 Pipe Organ Encounter for the American Guild of Organists New England state regions, June 27—July 2, 2010.

During this special week our 34 students, ages 13-18, studying the pipe organ, have had as their instructors 20+ of the area's finest church musicians and concert artists. They have been practicing at 18 area churches, have toured and played some outstanding and priceless organs from the historic churches of New Haven, to the many pipe organs of Yale University.

These students come to this program, already as gifted piano students, and are just beginning, or are intermediate-level trained organ students. At every venue since Sunday, the students have been able to dazzle the audiences in what we refer to as "open bench" opportunities where they get a chance to play one of these instruments — for their first time, no practice, and in front of peer students, faculty, and the public — exciting for sure!

For the parents, we have thoroughly enjoyed working with your children. Several came from prior POEs and knew each other. Many new friendships have been made amongst them, and with the faculty and concert recitalists.

For you the public, many from local churches that have lent us your facilities and organs, thank you for your support in the mission to help develop future organists and church musicians.

-The POE Leadership Team, Faculty & Volunteers

About Our Program

At this concert our students will be performing pieces that they have practiced to share with family, friends and the public illustrating their skills at both the organ and piano.

During this week the students, 2 per faculty had a total of 4 sessions, 2 hours each, dedicated to learning from a different teacher than their own, and on a different pipe organ. Many of the faculty used a portion of that time to train both students. Finally, only one student is playing the organ at a time, so they alternate between piano and organ for practice.

This morning, students were given 10-15 minutes to practice on the Chapel organ. Therefore when you are hearing them play in the Chapel of the Holy Spirit, they may have had less than 30 minutes using this organ. Now there is flexibility and adaptability.

We are very proud of the accomplishments that each student has shown, their enthusiasm for the instrument, being patient with each other as they have attended open bench sessions, and the final results you will hear today.

Making This All Possible

This program is made possible by the donation of time, talents and resources of so many. We are very grateful to every faculty member, concert artist, church and venue, that we will be using throughout the week. The mission of this program in building future church musicians starts by exposing students to this type of educational and fun program as designed by the Committee on the New Organist (CONO) of the American Guild of Organists.
